The Writers’ Studio is not:

- on your own.
- a drop-off or editing service: We collaborate with you to help you become a better writer. We do not proofread, correct grammar, or “quickly look over” papers.
- a place for emergencies: We focus on building writing skills over time. To get the most out of your sessions, be proactive and come in well before the day your paper is due.
- qualified to provide assistance with job/internship cover letters, or scholarship/graduate school essays. Please visit the Career Resource Center for this service.

Peer writing consultants help you work toward one or two goals for your writing assignment, at any stage of the writing process.

What can I work on in a Writers’ Studio session?

Any academic writing assignment, at any stage of the writing process. Peer writing consultants help you work toward one or two goals for your assignment while developing writing strategies you will be able to repeat on your own.
